CALL FOR PAPERS – Deadline extended

The Rimini Centre for Economic Analysis (RCEA) invites papers to be considered for its 2017 Macro, Money and Finance Workshop “Monetary and Fiscal Policy in the Next Recession”.

The current macroeconomic situation will make it more difficult than ever for policymakers to stimulate economies in the next recession. Policy interest rates cannot be reduced much since they are at record lows; public debt is, in most countries, at record high, and the new US administration is promising to roll back some of macroprudential reforms introduced in the wake of the Great Recession. The current situation makes dealing with the next recession a formidable challenge. The goal of the workshop is to discuss what can be done to prepare for the next cyclical downturn, and what to do when the next recession starts, as it inevitably will.

The 2017 RCEA Money and Finance Workshop will take place at in Waterloo, Ontario June 23-24, 2017.

SUBMISSIONS

Authors should submit an extended abstract of up to 500 words. Please include with the submission JEL classification codes for the paper as well as keywords. Complete papers may be submitted but the extended abstract is required. In case of more than one author the name of presenter should be underlined.

To submit a paper please send the abstract/paper to Jurek Konieczny at jurek@wlu.ca

Proposals for sessions, consisting of three or four papers, are particularly welcome. If you are interested in submitting a session, please send session topic, author names, titles and abstracts to Jurek Konieczny at jurek@wlu.ca

Submission deadline extended to April 22, 2017.

Notification of acceptance: Authors will be notified by the workshop scientific committee's decision by April 29, 2017.

Authors coming from countries with special visa requirements should specify so in their submission so that they can be notified as soon as possible.

There are no submission fees.
